What Is GUNPLA?

GUNDAM + PLASTIC MODEL = GUNPLA

GUNPLA is the common name for plastic models of Mobile Suits, Mobile Armor and other robots or battleships that appear in the "MOBILE SUIT GUNDAM" series.

This is where GUNPLA shines!

POINT-1
Snap-fit
Parts can be easily assembled without adhesives by simply snapping them together.

POINT-2
iroPLA
Special technology "multi-color molding" casts several colors on the same runner at once. Your GUNPLA is colorful straight from the get go.

POINT-3
Touchgate
Gate geometry that makes it possible to pull out parts from the runner without diagonal pliers or other tools.

POINT-4
Undergate
Gate geometry that hides the area where parts are cut away from the runner.

POINT-5
Multi-Insert Castings
Special technology that molds parts as they can fit together. Parts cut out from runners can be easily assembled.

Devotion to GUNPLA

Over 473 million GUNPLA models have been sold in the past 37 years since the 1/144 GUNDAM was first released in 1980. GUNPLA models are now made domestically in Japan from planning & development to production at the BANDAI Hobby Center in "Hobby City Shizuoka" in order to maintain high quality and accurately meet market demand while ensuring uniformity in design.

Example is RGUC 1/144 RX-78-2 GUNDAM Model.

A Before Assembly
Before beginning assembly, check the set contents and read the assembly manual for a smooth process.

B Cut Out the Parts
Following the steps in the assembly manual, cut out the necessary parts from the sprue frame.

C Assembly
After cutting out the parts, assemble them while making sure they are facing correctly.

D Attach the Decals
It’s easier to attach smaller decals with tweezers.

E Finish & Strike a Pose
Try different equipment combinations and look at photos in the package for ideas on cool poses.

F Ink in Some Detail
Take your GUNPLA to another level by inking in some lines in between grooves using a GUNPLA Marker or an inking pen (sold separately).

* The technology differs by GUNPLA type.

The “BANDAI Hobby Center” is BANDAI SPIRITS Hobby Division’s manufacturing base. All steps, from planning and development, designing, prototyping, production and shipping, take place here. Since the birth of the “1/144 GUNDAM” in 1980, over 473 million GUNPLA have been sent out to the world (as of March 2017), making it a true “GUNPLA factory.”

Planning is the process where we think, “What kind of GUNPLA should we make?” For example, we plan to create GUNPLA based on Mobile Suit that appear in new TV and movie series. We also choose to make kits based on Mobile Suit from older series that fans still enjoy. Once the product is decided on, we begin considering its specifications, such as gimmicks, with staff in charge of design and development.

We begin design with computers using source clips and setting images. A three-dimensional design using 3D CAD data, which is also used in architecture, and parts division, interest allophones, transformation gimmicks are added. GUNPLA that are easy to assemble and have wide ranges of articulation cannot be created without Japanese craftsmanship technology.

The design data is outputted using a 3D printer, and articulations and gimmicks are checked. This prototype production process was done by hand in the past and took several weeks. However, now the process is done in a few hours with 3D printers. We will also increase the accuracy of our designs through detailed checks of each part, as well as the whole body of the kit.

The metal casting molds are called “molds” used to make plastic resin parts according to their design data. The basic parts of the model are made by machine, but fine adjustments and corrections are done by craftsmen. These delicate adjustments determine the rigidity of the joints and holding capabilities. The molds can weigh up to over 1 ton. Casters are used to move them around.

GUNPLA are made with multi-color molding machines. “Multi-color molding” is a technology that allows the multiple colors to be incorporated on one runner. Hobby Center is the only place in the world where this technology is made possible. The GUNPLA are made by setting the molds in the multi-color molding machine, each runner can take about 30 seconds to make. This enables mass production.

Once the runners are made, they are packed into boxes and the GUNPLA is completed. All processes from the development to production, packaging, and shipping take place in the Hobby Center. Completed GUNPLA are sent to fans all over the world.

Hobby Center Trivia

Trivia 1: An eco-friendly factory

The exterior wall is a solar power panel and supports the power of the factory. It is an eco-friendly factory with a purification system that can save 20 million tons of rainwater and groundwater every year.

Trivia 2: Employees have rank insignias

Employees have rank insignias that indicate their position. Uniforms are based on the uniforms of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. There are two “office use” and “factory use” types.

Trivia 3: The factory operates 24-hours.

The factory is operated by 3 shifts over 24 hours. This means that GUNPLA is being manufactured all day and night. Moreover, only three people are in charge of production and they manage the multi-color molding machines. Automatic transporters are used to carry plastic materials and completed GUNPLA.

Trivia 4: Types of multi-color injection machines

There are currently seventeen multi-color injection machines being used. There are electrowinning and hydraulic multi-color injection machines, and the electrowinning type machines are approx. 1.2 times faster than hydraulic type machines when they come to production rates.

Story

There was once a great conflict known as the “Calamity War.” Roughly 300 years have passed since the end of this war. The Earth Sphere had lost its previous governing structure, and a new world was created under new systems of government. While a temporary peace had arrived, the seeds of a new conflict were being sown in the Mars Sphere, far away from Earth. Our hero, a boy named Mikazuki August, belongs to a private security company called Chryse Guard Security (CGS). The company accepts a mission to escort Kudelia Aina Bernstein, a girl who seeks to liberate the Martian city of Chryse from the rule of one of Earth's major powers. However, the military organization Gallahorn attacks CGS in order to nip this rebellion in the bud. CGS begins an evacuation, using Mikazuki and the other children as decoys. Orga Itstka, the leader of the boys, decides to take this opportunity to rise up in revolt and launch a coup d’état against the adults who have been oppressing them. He gives Mikazuki the task of repelling Gallahorn, and Mikazuki enters battle using the Gundam Barbatos, a mobile suit from the Calamity War era which has been serving as CGS’s power source.
STORY

Mikazuki Augus is part of Tekkadan, an organization that jumped to fame from the battles involving the escorting of Kudelia Aina Bernstein to Earth and the Arbrea primary elections. The conflict exposed the corruption of Gjallarhorn as well, and the world was changing slowly but surely. Tekkadan, with the rights to halmetal as negotiated with Arbrea, became a direct affiliate of Teiwaz. That resulted in abundant funds and more people interested in joining, growing massively to even have a branch on Earth. Kudelia, learning about the world from her journey to Earth, founded Adnoss Company to strive for the financial independence of Mars both in reality and in practice. However, there are many who do not look favorably about the rise of the youngsters who are trying to start something new. Adnoss Company will be inspecting a mining site of halmetal, and hired Tekkadan to guard them. There, the leader of Tekkadan, Orga Itsumi, senses an attack from a new enemy. Under Orga's command, Tekkadan, including Mikazuki in the mobile suit Gundam Barbatos Lupus, head out to repel the enemy.

This is a new structure. This series pursues the core aspects of SD kits, “accessibility” and “playability” after assembling/collectibility”, along with new additional features.

Division of parts unique to the SD.

The head unit can be recreated with color divided parts due to its size, while maintaining details and a simple assembly.

The frames can be combined and customized to create different proportions!

The two frames are cross-compatible, making it easy to recreate proportions of your choice. The frames themselves can also be adjusted to create all imaginable proportions!

A set including both the SDCS RX-78-2 and Cross Silhouette Frame will be available separately. Use the SD CS Frame to assemble the SD in two styles. The frames themselves can also be combined.

1. CONCEPT: A Huge Boost to Range of Motion!

   Points with expanded ranges of motion allow EX-STANDARD kits to confidently strike poses older SD kits could barely hold.

2. STYLISH PROPORTIONS!

   The SD series' iconic proportions are preserved yet polished with an update that scales down heads and torsos while extending arms and legs.

3. DESIGNED FOR HG COMPATIBILITY!

   The parts swaps and cross-compatibility introduced in SDBF carry over to EX-STANDARD, allowing for a wide range of customization options.
